Highway Patrolmen May Be Called to Ginger Hill District to Break Up Practices of Gang—Are Stopping Autoists

PETTING PARTIES STOPPED

Township Officers Sunday Night Conducted a Raid on Certain Section Known As Trysting Places of Young Men And Girls

State highway patrolmen will likely be called to the section of Monongahela to investigate the stopping of motorists on the Monongahela-Washington pike by a band of ruffians who for the past month have been causing trouble in the Ginger Hill district.

Monday evening a Monongahela man and his wife were stopped by seven unidentified young men while enroute to Eighty Four. After standing in the middle of the road just below the Valley Inn garage and waving their arms wildly in an effort to stop the machine, three of the band, who were apparently the leaders, became abusive and ordered the Monongahela man to turn his car about and return to Ginger Hill. They were finally permitted to continue on their way to Monongahela. Officers were notified and although a search was made for the men no trace of them could be found. Several weeks ago state police arrested three young men, all foreigners, residing at the new town of Ginger Hill, for stopping autoists.

Petting parties along the roads and on private property in Rostraver township are to be broken up. After repeated warnings without any effect, the township officers Sunday night conducted a raid on certain sections known as trysting places of the young men and girls. The Rehoboth church district was patrolled for several hours but the autoists with their companions were evidently aware that something was wrong, for they failed to stop. However, a number, believing that by leaving the main highway they would be safe, took advantage of the highway leading from Prucedale to the Turkey Hollow road, and in this district Constable B. H. Mochnally rounded up four different parties, arresting four young men and their girl companions. They were each compelled to place a forfeit for a hearing before Justice of the Peace Rankin, of Rostraver township, on a charge of disorderly conduct. With one exception they were able to furnish the money but one young man from Donora who did not have sufficient funds was compelled to leave his new Dodge truck at the police station until his parents arrived and deposited the forfeit with the justice.

AS STORY WRITER

According to word received from "Peck" Webster, or Jackie Vernon, Charleroi's Hollywood product, he is now busily engaged in story writing. He made particular mention of a French story he has been writing for the past few months, and has just completed it. The title is being withheld until it is sold. He expects to have a market for it in New York, and if so, will make a trip there personally. "Jackie" has typed over a half a million words in all, and hopes to continue story writing, as he finds it very fascinating. His many friends wish him success in his chosen career.

WEST PENN SYSTEM STOCK OFFERED— OVER-SUBSCRIBED

The Monongahela West Penn Public Service Company, a subsidiary of the West Penn Company, on July 7, 1924, offered for sale to the employees and customers of the West Penn System $500,000 par value of its 7 per cent Cumulative Preferred stock. By July 26, this offering had been oversubscribed. The average purchase per subscriber, averaged slightly over $300 par value. Since 1919 to date the subsidiaries of the West Penn Company have sold to customers and employees over $14,000,000 par value of preferred stock through approximately 20,000 individual sales. The average purchase per individual during this period aggregated about $700 par value.

Prize Of $200 For The Best Slogan In Booming Pennsylvania

The State Publicity Bureau of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce has announced a prize of $200 for the best slogan to be used in broadcasting Pennsylvania's many advantages as a tourist state. The Bureau has in preparation an illustrated booklet which will picture Pennsylvania's wealth of beautiful scenery, historic places, ideal rural life, splendid highways and modern cities, not forgetting the vast natural and industrial resources of the Keystone State. Anyone can submit a slogan or title for this booklet which will be one of several steps in an intensive campaign of advertising Pennsylvania's charms to tourists. Blanks for enterprising slogan suggestions are obtainable from the local Chamber of Commerce or from the State Publicity Bureau, Telegraph Building, Harrisburg.

Other states have been bidding for the interest of tourists and especially the automobilists through publicity campaigns and now Pennsylvania, with much more to offer vacationists and motor tourists than many states, which annually enjoy a rush of visitors from outside, is to come into her own. Through the State Publicity Bureau thousands of people have already learned of the natural wonders and other sights worth seeing incidental to an extensive tour of the native land of William Penn. Nowhere can be found finer roads or more diversified scenic interest. Rich in historic lore, the Keystone State unfolds many pages of delight to those who revel in visiting spots hallowed by great historic events. Nature has exalted herself in this land of tree-clad mountains and placid valleys to paint a picture irresistible for those who love the out-of-doors. When more people know about Pennsylvania, more people are sure to come to see and enjoy what she has to offer is the thought of the Publicity Committee of the State Chamber of Commerce and so it is planned that Pennsylvania shall no longer hide her light from the world. More than ten thousand tourists have already this summer taken advantage of the information service of the State Publicity Bureau and no less than 300,000 pieces of Pennsylvania advertising literature and tourist maps have been distributed through this agency to people in other states. A tourist guide, complete with accurate road maps showing all of the main highways of the State and containing descriptive matter for quick reference will be published for broadcast distribution over the country in advance of next tourist season. The pictorial booklet will feature actual photographs of beauty spots and places of outstanding interest. The cooperation of officials of Pennsylvania communities, the State Forestry Department, Chambers of Commerce and numerous patriotic individuals in collecting photographic

Child Lost Found By The Searchers

Mary Katherine Mitchell, four-year-old daughter of James Mitchell, an automobile mechanic of Uniontown, for whom hundreds of volunteers had been searching the Maryland mountains since Sunday, was located yesterday two miles from the spot where she was last seen. The child was sitting on a rock eating an apple when the exception of a few scratches she appeared none the worse for her experience. The child was believed by her father to have been kidnapped while a party of tourists from Uniontown was holding a picnic Sunday, near Frostburg.

The tot was taken to her parents, who were waiting with a physician at Midland. Little information was obtained from her how she spent the 49 hours since her disappearance.

JOHNNY'S HIKE PROVES HE IS OF HEROIC MOULD

Johnny Hill, aged 18, son of Postmaster and Mrs. S. D. R. Hill of Crest avenue, returned to Charleroi yesterday feeling fine after one of the most interesting two weeks of his young life.

Johnny started out Tuesday, July 29, hatless, and taking nothing but what he wore, to hike to Chicago with the intention of hearing the much discussed Leopold-Loeb murder case. He received many lifts from tourists, reaching Columbus, Ohio, the first day, Indianapolis the second day, and Chicago the third. He attended the murder trial four days and reports that he got a "good look" at all the leading characters in the judicial trial, and on one instance went up on the same elevator with Attorney Darrow, leading lawyer for the defense. It is his opinion that the boys will get off with a life sentence, although Chicago sentiment is against them.

Returning to Charleroi, he made record-breaking time, making the trip in two days. It was his experience to ride from South Bend, Indiana, with a cowboy from Colorado, to Cleveland, a distance of 225 miles. Johnny rode with many classes of people, and reports a wonderfully interesting and beneficial trip.

BLAMES HUSBAND FOR HER NEAR SUICIDAL ACTS

Mrs. Millie Dygin, aged 25, wife of Theodore Dygin, of 318 Fourth street, Monessen, made four unsuccessful attempts at suicide at her home today.

Mrs. Dygin, who is the mother of four to nine, attempted to drink the contents of a bottle of iodine early this morning, but the bottle was knocked from her hand by a member of the family. It was feared the woman had swallowed a quantity of the poison and a physician was summoned. Upon examination no trace of the liquid could be found. While the physician was in attendance, the woman attempted to jump from the second-story window of her home. The police were called and she was removed to the police station. Before leaving her home she grabbed a butcher knife and made an effort to slash her throat. When committed to the jail the woman was very hysterical. After being locked up for a little while, she grew suddenly quiet and Chief of Police Horn made an investigation. He found the woman trying to strangle herself with one of her stockings. When questioned as to her reasons for trying to take her life, the woman replied she was tired of living the life she was forced to lead with her husband and could no longer stand his abuse. Mr. Dygin is an employee of the tin mill in Monessen.

The woman is being held in the Monessen jail on a charge of disorderly conduct, and a close watch is being kept over her to prevent her from carrying out her intentions.

WAYNESBURG FAIR AUGUST 19, 20, 21, 22

Waynesburg, Pa., Aug. 12. — The fourteenth annual Waynesburg fair will be held August 19, 20, 21, 22. All the plans have been completed for what the directors believe will be one of the best meets in the history of the association. The exhibits will be large. Greene county is noted for its fine stock and the stock breeders of the county take much interest in this feature of the local fair. The pens will be more than full this year. The Waynesburg band, under the leadership of B. F. Jones, will furnish the music. A number of free acts have been provided. The bad detour on the road leading from Waynesburg to Rice's Landing has been eliminated by the finishing of the road through Jefferson several days ago.

The racing program this year is quite attractive. The program calls for 11 harness events with purses aggregating $6,000. The entrance fee is added to each purse and there is no deduction from winners. There are three stake races which will bring some of the fastest steppers in the country to Waynesburg. The Waynesburg fair is followed by Washington only 23 miles away. The racing program is as follows:

Wednesday, August 20.
2.25 trot, stake closed, 3-year-olds, $500.
2.25 pace, $400.
2.24 trot, $400.

Unit System Flag Display For Borough

The Charleroi Post No. 22 American Legion, has taken over the responsibility of supervising the installation of the Shenandoah Unit system of flag decorating in Charleroi, from First to Tenth streets; Fallowfield from First to Tenth streets, and Washington avenue, later.

The system consists of a 4x6 fast colored flag placed on a 12-foot pole. These poles are to be placed 22 feet apart at the curb on both sides of the street. These flags will be the property of each property owner or tenant in front of whose home or property the survey places a flag. They will be furnished and installed complete for $4.85. This system has already been installed in 24 hours. Jim Nezevich, of McKees Rocks, was the man killed.

Pittsburgh Steel Products Co. Employees Give Hospital Building Fund $6,516

One of the largest subscriptions received from employees of any industry in this locality in the hospital campaign is that of $6,516 reported last night to the hospital campaign headquarters in the Borough Building, from the employees of the Pittsburgh Steel Products Company at Allentown. This brings the grand total for the campaign to date to $208,733.

Although the hospital campaign is over so far as active soliciting by the workers is concerned, subscriptions in small amounts continue to dribble in. There are several corporations and firms as well as some individuals who have not as yet subscribed, but who are expected to subscribe. These subscriptions will be received in due time and the amount added to swell the building fund for the new hospital as it will take upwards of $250,000 to construct and equip the hospital.

Some of the organizations subscribing turned in, in the last report, but not published, are as follows: I. O. O. F., $25; Russian Dramatic Association, $50; Charleroi Co-Operative Association, $25; McKean Commandery No. 80, K. T., $50; Ladies Catholic Benevolent Society, $100; Catholic Daughters of America, $100; Federated Women's Organization, $500. Anyone who has been overlooked by the canvassers in the campaign may call at the office of the hospital campaign in the Borough Building and leave their subscription with the clerks in charge. The hospital directors are anxious that everyone interested in supporting the hospital be given an opportunity to subscribe something, however small it may be to the hospital building fund.

Judge J. Boyd Crumrine of the Orphans Court, 27th Judicial district, located in Washington, Pa., wrote Captain F. W. Brady of team 2, division "A," yesterday making a subscription to the hospital building fund, and enclosing his check for one fifth of the subscription as a first payment. Judge Crumrine said he was glad to see Charleroi put over the hospital in such fine shape.

LOCK VIEW IS 100 PERCENT

Former Burgess S. L. Woodward reports that he and Jerry Calistri had subscribed by the foreign population and colored people of Lock View, the sum of $7500.

Mr. Woodward says this is a 100 per cent report and thinks the donation for a new hospital building on the part of the people, is nothing short of remarkable.

STEELE HELD AS LEADER OF BANDIT GANG

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 13.—A man known as Charles Steele, of San Francisco, Cal., was held in the county jail here today as the leader of the bandit gang which killed a man in holding up a crap game and obtaining $2,000 in cash and jewelry. Four of the bandits escaped with the loot but Steele was captured after attempting to intimidate a woman into hiding him. The raid took place on Sandale's Hill, Millvale, known as a notorious gambler's rendezvous, at which thousands of dollars changed hands every 24 hours. Jim Nezevich, of McKees Rocks, was the man killed.

Declarations For More Economy In Government And Reduction of Taxation Will Be President's Offense Against Omnipotence

TOO MUCH EXTRAVAGANCE

High Taxation Is a Further Cause For Economic Evils — Give Country An Economical Government. Free Business, And Industry

Washington, August 13.—President Coolidge believes the "pocketbook issue" is paramount in the coming campaign. Straightforward declarations for more economy in government and reduction of taxation, it was learned from those close to him today, will constitute his main offense against the issues launched by his opponents. From wasteful extravagance in government and attendant high taxes flow, Give the country a rigorously economical government, free business and industry from uncertainty, and economic affairs will take care of themselves, is his attitude as reflected by his friends.

Mr. Coolidge is said to regard the "honesty in government" issue, made paramount by Davis as too self-evident and fundamental to require emphasis. The president in past speeches and actions has pledged himself to rigid enforcement of the laws and prosecution of offenders against the government, and he is willing to let the matter rest there. He does not believe in making a virtue of being virtuous.

All preparations for the notification ceremonies here tomorrow night are complete. Chairman Butler of the Republican National committee has gone to great pains to make it a democratic, non-exclusive affair. Though it will be held in the Memorial Continental hall, scene of the disarmament conference, with a capacity of only 2,500, seats have been reserved for only a few of those closely associated with the campaign and personal friends of the president. The rest are to be open to the public. Amplifiers have been installed to relay the president's speech to crowds in the park across the street. Radio facilities will circulate the speech to 25,000,000, according to the estimate of Butler.

Rayjavik, Iceland, Aug. 13.—Preparations for early resumption of the American world flight starts today.

Word that the ice on the Greenland coast was loosening its grip on the harbors to which the airmen next will fly was a signal for welcome activity at this little port.

The naval chain of destroyers and cruisers which will stretch between here and Greenland when the flight is resumed was being organized. The scout cruiser Richmond prepared to take on spare parts no longer needed at the base here, and move

Mrs. Herbert M. Cooley, McKeesport bride, who disappeared from an Erie hotel July 28, six days after her marriage, without leaving her husband any clue by which he might follow, is still reported missing. Her mother, Mrs. Daniel S. Tobin, of 836 Huey street, McKeesport, late yesterday declared that she could assign no cause for the mysterious disappearance of her 23-year-old daughter, other than prior to the wedding July 22, she had noticed the young woman frequently complained of headaches. Daniel Tobin, school recorder of McKeesport, and father of the girl, was in Erie last night with private detectives. Herbert Cooley, the husband, returned to McKeesport.

Friends of the girl, who was attending business and school at the time, and weighed about 115 pounds, believe that she is merely visiting relatives, and that she will reappear in due time.

Mrs. Cooley, formerly Mary A. Tobin, was an English instructor at Allegheny College until June, when she received her master of arts degree. Cooley graduated from Carnegie Tech in June, and is employed as metallurgist in the National works.

TOO MUCH PREPAREDNESS.

In an interview in Collier's Henry Ford says that the way to preserve world peace (and make the United States invulnerable) is to develop Muscle Shoals and produce nitrates far beyond the productive power of all the other nations combined. With such an invincible command of high explosives, both in quantity and destructive quality, the United States could be "a world force for good." Mr. Ford is further quoted as saying that "in the interests of peace it seems that we shall have to do it."

ent kind of pacifist; it may be recalled that he once went on a "peace ship" to persuade the warring nations of Europe to "get the boys out of the trenches by Christmas." Perhaps he does not realize that he is now the kind of pacifist that the German militarists were, or pretended to be for years before the World War.

The German idea of preserving the peace was to build up a mighty war machine that would make Germany invulnerable—and able to conquer the world, if need be. Mr. Ford would make America overwhelmingly dominant, not to conquer the world, but to command the world to keep the peace. It does not occur to him that there might come times and men unable to resist the temptation to use such power, nor perhaps does he reflect upon what too much preparedness did for Germany. The current Living Age reprints utterances of German newspapers just ten years ago. One of these incidentally reveals the Kaiser's exultation in the thought that not only was Germany overwhelmingly powerful but that the opportunity to employ that power had come. This "surged in the breast of the war lord" when he saw Herr von Calker in uniform. He "clenched his fist, made a vigorous gesture like a man delivering a blow, and ejaculated, 'ow we shall thrash them!'" Such was the end of too much preparedness piously disguised before the people in the name of the preservation of peace.

augured in the cities of Pittsburgh, Greensburg, Uniontown and Coraopolis. Residents of Charleroi who have seen this system have been desirous of bringing it to Charleroi.

The local Post feeling that it is the only proper way of displaying the American flag and the most economic as well as the quickest way of transforming a busy borough into a most impressive beautifully decorated place, have undertaken the work of installing the units. With the installation of the units, it will only require five minutes to decorate the town.

On Monday, August 18, four teams composed of Legion members will canvass the streets mentioned for subscriptions. Every effort is being put forth to install the flags by Labor day for the big celebration that will be held in Charleroi on that day.

Fifth street, between the Railroad station and Washington avenue, will be decorated Saturday afternoon and evening, August 16, in order to show the community what a splendid appearance this system will make. Place your orders at once with the Legion Boys, or, if you wish, mail your orders to Chairman Walter Pieper, 712 Crest avenue.

PRIZE OF $200 FOR BEST SLOGAN

material for this statewide advertising book insures its completeness in depicting all that goes to make up the lure of Pennsylvania's out-of-doors. The book will be distributed free. The guide book will enable the tourist to plan trips to any part of the state taking advantage of the best roads and most satisfactory accommodations along the way.

Rules of the $200 prize slogan contest are simple. The Committee desires that Pennsylvanians first of all shall know more about the wonders of their own state. Living in the midst of such advantages of landscape, climate and the like, it is believed that Pennsylvanians should be accorded the opportunity to choose a slogan which will carry the message of invitation and goodwill to the people of other states. The Ozarks of Missouri—"The Land of a Million Smiles" as the "show me" state's publicity describes them, have a romantic charm which every year adds to the number of visitors for rest and recreation. Pennsylvania is a vacation land where literally there are "Miles of Smiles" and the Committee wants a slogan that will be properly descriptive of the romance and delight which everywhere in the state awaits the tourist. The title or slogan must not exceed five words. The contest closes on Saturday, September 20 at 6 P. M., and all slogans, to be considered, must be in by that time. Announcement of the winning slogan will be made at the annual meeting of the Pennsylvania State Chamber of Commerce at Pittsburgh, October 8.

Asked for his opinion on the youths, Dr. Patrick said: "They showed no evidence of mental disease." The defense contends the boys suffered from diseased minds. Today Dr. Patrick will explain why he thinks the youths were not mentally diseased on May 21, the day they killed Robert Franks and on June 1, the day they made their confessions. Objections by the defense prevented his answer before court adjourned.

CROWE TO FIGHT SCIENCE WITH MORE SCIENCE

Criminal Court Room, Chicago, Aug. 13.—Accepting the challenge of the defense, State's Attorney Crowe today decided to fight science with science and announced he would call no more lay witnesses in the Leopold-Loeb murder case.

Using Dr. Hugh T. Patrick, noted alienist, as his first line of medical offense, Crowe sought to prove to the satisfaction of Chief Justice John R. Caverly, sitting as judge and jury, that Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, sons of millionaires, were sane on the day they killed Robert Franks, school boy, also that they were sane on June 1, when they confessed to the kidnapping and slaying.

Four alienists were used by the defense and Crowe said he would produce the same number for the state. He placed particular importance on the testimony of Dr. Rollin T. Woodruff, expert on the comparatively new science of endocrinology. The defense wound up its medical case with Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, neuro-psychiatrist, and specialist on the endocrines—the glands of internal secretion.

Dr. Hulbert testified that the abnormal activities of certain of the endocrines caused a pathological condition which motivated the criminalistic activities of Nathan and Richard. Dr. Woodruff will attack this testimony on the grounds that the science of endocrinology has passed little more than the experimental stage and therefore cannot be used as conclusive evidence.

Crowe's first objective is to prove Nathan and Leopold possess normal emotions, which the defense denies. His next objective is to prove the boys are absolutely sane. Then he will try to show the defense has applied strange names to normal conditions in an effort to befog the mind of Justice Caverly in the hope that he will not visit the full penalty of the crime on the slayers.

Dr. Patrick, who took the stand yesterday in rebuttal testimony by the state, struck at the heart of the defense case when he said he had found no evidence of mental disease in the youths. Dr. Patrick observed and talked with Leopold and Loeb on June 1 when they made their confessions to the state's attorney.

Asked for his opinion on the youths, Dr. Patrick said: "They showed no evidence of mental disease."

The defense contends the boys suffered from diseased minds.

Today Dr. Patrick will explain why he thinks the youths were not mentally diseased on May 21, the day they killed Robert Franks and on June 1, the day they made their confessions. Objections by the defense prevented his answer before court adjourned.

UNCLE SAM TAKES HAND IN FAMOUS CASE

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 13.—The Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 13.—The hand in the Ann utter-Jack White case, in which the motion picture actress is suing White for $100,000 for alleged breach of contract.

Lucian Wheeler, chief investigator of the department of justice in Southern California, will attempt to ascertain the facts of the trans-continental trip the couple made in the drawing room of a Pullman, he said to determine whether White or Miss Luther or both may be charged with violation of the Mann act.

The federal investigation of the trip was prompted by Judge L. M. Valentine, who, following a scathing denunciation of both the actress and White during the course of yesterday's session of the trial, said:

"I intend to call attention of the federal authorities to this situation which I consider one of the most disoluble, disgraceful, and outrageous violations of decency that has ever come to my attention."

The jurist's outburst was occasioned when Paul Schenck, attorney for White, attempted to have the case thrown out of court because of alleged misrepresentation of certain facts by Miss Luther.

"This whole affair was intended by White solely as an escape," Judge Valentine declared. "He was, I think the initiative solely to get Miss Luther as a traveling companion. Whether there was any understanding between them, the evidence does not disclose, but it is sufficient in my judgment to warrant the inference that there was an understanding that they should occupy the same compartment."

"Miss Luther's own testimony about her free manner of living with A. E. Lewis is enough to justify that inference."

The pert little orange-haired actress hung her head at the judge's bitter arraignment, but afterwards told newspapermen that the jurist was entirely right.

"But he doesn't know all the facts in the case," she added.

"Yet everything he said was deserved."

White's brief comment was, "I'm going to reserve what I have to say until my story is told."

Unprofitable Transaction

A deaf man went into a butcher shop and inquired the price of a large bone, which he thought would do to make soup. "Oh, I'll give you that," said the butcher. The customer did not catch the butcher's reply. "Can't you take something off?" he asked querulously. "Yes," said the butcher, "you can have it for 25 cents."

An Enticing Exhibit

LET us see if, for a few moments, you cannot view the array of fine furniture presented in the August Furniture Sale thru the eyes of your imagination. Taking an elevator to the eighth floor in "The Big Store," an amazing spectacle confronts you. Is this truly a Twentieth Century department store, or have you, by some strange mischance, stumbled back thru the years to a corner of the Bazaar in golden-memoried Bagdad?

In front of you, to the left, to the right, a veritable Bagdad is on display. True, it's all furniture, but so varied the pieces, so many the colors, you forget this for a moment. Then, when you think your eyes have taken it all in, you wander around behind the elevators—and find the scene repeated! No Caliph of Bagdad is responsible for this fascinating exhibit, but a great institution that ably serves a community many times the size of that ancient city.

YOU pause before a handsome dining room suite, perhaps the one shown here, or one designed in the William and Mary manner. "How fine that would look in our dining room! and—yes—that buffet would be just right over against the wall between the two doors. And so, visualizing your own home, you mentally arrange the new furniture in the room and study the effect.

LATER, while the salesman tells you of the remarkably fine material and workmanship in the overstuffed suite shown at the left, you listen with "only one ear," for you are thinking of the long winter evenings when the lazy comfort of these chairs and couch will be so welcome. For the bed rooms—the most intimate rooms in the house—the simplicity and quiet beauty of suites like the Louis XVI design shown here are always suitable. Twenty years later they are as pleasing as the day they are first installed.

WHEN you reflect that all these lovely things—and a thousand more which space will not permit of mentioning—are offered at price reductions of 25% below our regular lowest-in-the-city prices; that more than a million dollars worth of high grade furniture has been assembled for this sale; that the range of prices is astonishingly wide—when you consider these points, you realize why thousands of Western Pennsylvania families look forward each year to this most remarkable furniture event.
